Guided professional learning about the Flight Framework

In partnership with Alberta Children's Services, ARCQE is pleased to be supporting free registration to the Possibilities for Practice (PfP) introductory learning series about Flight and Pedagogical Support for the 2021-2022 year.

Possibilities for Practice: engagement & knowledge building series

Child care programs have asked for an introductory overview on what the Flight curriculum is all about and how Pedagogical Partner support works. The new Possibilities for Practice series offers a creative solution. These six professional learning sessions cover Flight's key concepts, provide information on the Pedagogical Partner support process (including understanding what commitments are involved for your program), and introduce you to the "Regional Learning Communities" format we use to help programs implement Flight by building strength together. * This is an introductory learning series only. For more in-depth knowledge about the Flight Framework educators are encouraged to register to MacEwan University's online course: Exploring Early Childhood Curriculum: Play, Participation and Possibilities. For further information email pppinfo@macewan.ca.

Possibilities for Practice session topics

- What is a curriculum?
- Image of the child
- A practice of relationships
- Responsive environments
- Perspectives on leadership
- Creating a culture of learning

Where do I start? When? How?

The PfP series is offered over a 6 week block, online one evening per week throughout a 6 week period. Each session is 2 hours in length and facilitated by an ARCQE Pedagogical Partner. The PfP series is offered throughout the year from September to June and open to all educators working in licensed child care, family child care and/or out of school programs. To register for the Possibilities for Practice (PfP) series, watch for further information and registration starting August 16th, 2021 on the ARCQE website at: <https://arcqe.ca/projects/pp/>.
